

CHURCH MEMBERS TRAGEDY AT RAPIDS WOULD LYNCH TO VOTE SUNDAY

ST. STEPHEN'S CONGREGATION TO DECIDE WHETHER TO PUSH BUILDING DURING 1921

REPORT MADE ON FINANCES

INCOMES FOR VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS DURING 1920 REACH BIG TOTALS

Whether work shall be continued on the new church building at the corner of Clark and Pine streets during 1921, or whether further construction shall be delayed until building costs are lower, will be decided at a meeting of St. Stephen's congregation to be held following the 10 o'clock services next Sunday morning. The basement of the building has been completed at a cost of $40,197.96, according to the annual financial report of the parish, and services are now being conducted there.

Money in Fund
Liberty bonds with a par value of $15,500 and subscriptions amounting to $628.29 are now in the treasury of the building fund and are available for use as soon as the congregation decides to resume work on the construction of the new building. Receipts for the building fund during 1920 included subscriptions amounting to $31,732.63, $5,098.60 from the old building fund and interest, $1,900 raised by the Ladies' Aid society and $6,347.47 on hand Jan. 1, 1920. The cost of the basement included $13,161.66 paid for labor, $7,801.84 for heating and plumbing, $4,366 for cement, $3,900 for architect's fees and $3,435.26 for lumber.

General Receipts
The parish raised $11,248.39 for general church work last year, of which $37.52 now remains in the treasury. The Ladies' Aid society from April 1, 1920, to January 25, 1921, cleared $4,094.65, of which $2,019.23 was paid for repairs on the parsonage and $1,900 to the building fund. The Altar society raised $1,030.06 during the year, of which $715.43 remains in the treasury. The sum of $966.81 was received for the cemetery fund, of which amount $388.31 was on hand Jan. 1, 1920. A balance of $487.42 is now in this fund.

FORM EQUITY LOCAL IN AMHERST VILLAGE

J. A. BERTO PRESIDENT OF NEW ORGANIZATION, WHICH PLANS COOPERATIVE MARKETING OF STOCK

A local union of the American Society of Equity was formally organized at a meeting held at Woodman hall in Amherst on Monday, in charge of Fred J. Hertfeld, district organizer. The following officers were elected: President, J. A. Berto, Secretary, R. L. Thomson, Treasurer, Otto H. Olson. Another meeting will be held on February 7, when application will be made for a charter, a vice president elected and a live stock shipping association formed. It is planned to ship the first carload of stock within a week after the association is formed. The Amherst local starts with 60 members, of whom 20 are already in the "paid up" class.

A meeting for the organization of a local union in the town of Lanark will be held at the Madely school, seven miles south of Amherst. Twenty farmers have signed up for membership in that local, which is expected to join with the Amherst local in the stock shipping association.

According to Organizer Hertfeld a meeting will be held in Stevens Point soon for the purpose of organizing a local to take in farmers in this vicinity. Organization work is also being pushed in the Polonia district, where John Formella, a well known farmer of that vicinity, is circulating membership papers.

ONE MAN KILLED, ANOTHER INJURED WHEN AUTO AND STREET CAR CRASH

George Meddaugh of Wisconsin Rapids is dead and J. E. Jones of Hancock is in Riverview hospital in that city, his body badly lacerated and bruised and his left arm broken, as the result of a crash between the Jones car and a street car near the pavilion on the outskirts of the Rapids. Meddaugh died in the hospital, a fracture of the skull resulting in his death.

The two men were driving from Nekeosa when the accident occurred. They had reached a point near the pavilion, when, according to Jones, they heard the street car whistle and saw its lights. As they proceeded they again heard the whistle, but thought there was a large car behind them. As the driver turned out, believing a car from behind wished to pass by, the crash came. The auto was thrown against a pole and wrecked, the one man killed and the other badly injured.

VALLEY BASEBALL LEAGUE PROPOSED

SCHOFIELD ATHLETIC CLUB HAS PLANS UNDER WAY TO ORGANIZE NINE NEARBY TOWNS

The Schofield Athletic association has been formed for the purpose of organizing a baseball team and the association suggests in a letter sent out that a Wisconsin Valley league be created. Towns suggested for the league and to which letters have been sent include Marshfield, Wisconsin Rapids, Antigo, Mosinee, Tomahawk, Merrill, Stevens Point, Wausau and Rothschild.

The letter, which is written by R. C. Sawyer, secretary of the Schofield Athletic association, says: "It has occurred to us that perhaps other teams in the Wisconsin Valley would be interested in entering into a league and the purpose of this letter is to ask whether you would consider this and if so, what suggestion you could make to start the ball a-rolling. Such a league, we believe, could be organized with very little expense to its members and yet greatly stimulate interest in baseball in the towns represented."

NEW LONDON MAYOR WANTS LAW ENFORCED

BLAME PLACED ON OFFICERS AT SPECIAL MEETING CALLED TO STAMP OUT GAMBLING AND CRIME

Members of the New London police force have been called to task for alleged failure to stop gambling. Mayor E. W. Wendlandt issued a call for a meeting of the police and fire commission, the purpose being to make an effort to get action from the police force in enforcing orders issued to them.

It was charged that slot machines, punch boards, card games and other forms of gambling were known to be in progress, and the mayor wanted it understood that these things were not to be tolerated. Sale of moonshine in New London was reported to be flourishing and the mayor asserted that he wanted the officers to report all cases coming to their attention, and to cooperate with federal officers in bringing about the arrest of the guilty persons.

SETTLE INJURY CASE

Almond Man One of Principals in Court Action at Wausau

The Merrill Daily Herald contains the following: "A settlement was today reached in the injury case of Mrs. Ida Bachman who was badly hurt last fall when alighting from a street car near the Radger hotel and who was struck by a Ford owned and driven by Albert Krohn of Almond, Wis. The case was tried before Judge Reid in Marathon county and $6,000 was asked as damages for injuries. Attorneys Kileen of Wausau and Bird, Okonski and Buchner of Wausau represented Krohn, F. J. and A. H. Smith of this city, representing Mrs. Bachman. The settlement resulted in awarding Mrs. Bachman a very substantial sum."

TWO KIDNAPERS

ANGRY FEELING OF PEOPLE AT LOS ANGELES REQUIRES SPECIAL PRECAUTIONS TO BE TAKEN

WITHDRAW PLEA OF GUILTY

AFTER CONFESSING CAPTORS OF MRS. WITHERELL WILL NOW STAND TRIAL

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1.—Fear of an attempt at lynching caused police today to take special precaution in guarding Floyd L. Carr and Arthur Watson (Jack) Carr, cousins, confessed kidnapers of Mrs. Gladys Witherell. Extra guards have been stationed around the county jail to block an attempt to move the prisoners.

To Stand Trial
Plans to rush the kidnapers to the penitentiary were halted yesterday, when Floyd Carr, after both pleaded guilty, asked that sentence be delayed and a lawyer appointed.

Phone Girl's Wife
A quick-witted telephone operator was responsible for the arrest of the kidnapers and the release of Mrs. Witherell. Jack Carr entered a railway station and telephoned the Witherell home where the money must be left if the woman was to be set free. The young woman who handled the call delayed the connection long enough to notify the police department, which rushed a squad to the scene, and when Carr finished his telephone conversation and turned from the booth, he found the police waiting to seize him. Taken to the police station, he made a complete confession and led the police to the place where the woman was found.

At Sheep Ranch
Carr led the police and deputy sheriffs to a sheep ranch eight miles east of Covina, 72 miles from Los Angeles. The police rushed in, rescued the woman and arrested Floyd Carr, who at first offered a gun fight but was quickly overpowered.

Mrs. Witherell, the wife of a former Chicagoan, was apparently in excellent health and stated that she had been well cared for during her imprisonment.

According to the story told by the kidnapers, both had ill feeling toward Mrs. Witherell's father-in-law because of a boat deal over a year ago. The crime was planned to obtain revenge and to gain the money, they said.

Meets Husband
The meeting between Mr. Witherell and his wife was the most dramatic incident of the week's suspense. When the officers surrounded the shack and rumbled the doors, Mrs. Witherell became hysterical.

Then her husband entered and, rushing into each other's arms, the young wife sobbed, "Lambie! Lambie!"

A few minutes later her father entered and a similar scene ensued.

Notice of Crime

At the police station the two Carrs declared that they had kidnaped Mrs. Witherell because the latter's father-in-law, A. J. Witherell, had blocked a deal whereby Floyd Carr could have obtained a fishing yacht.

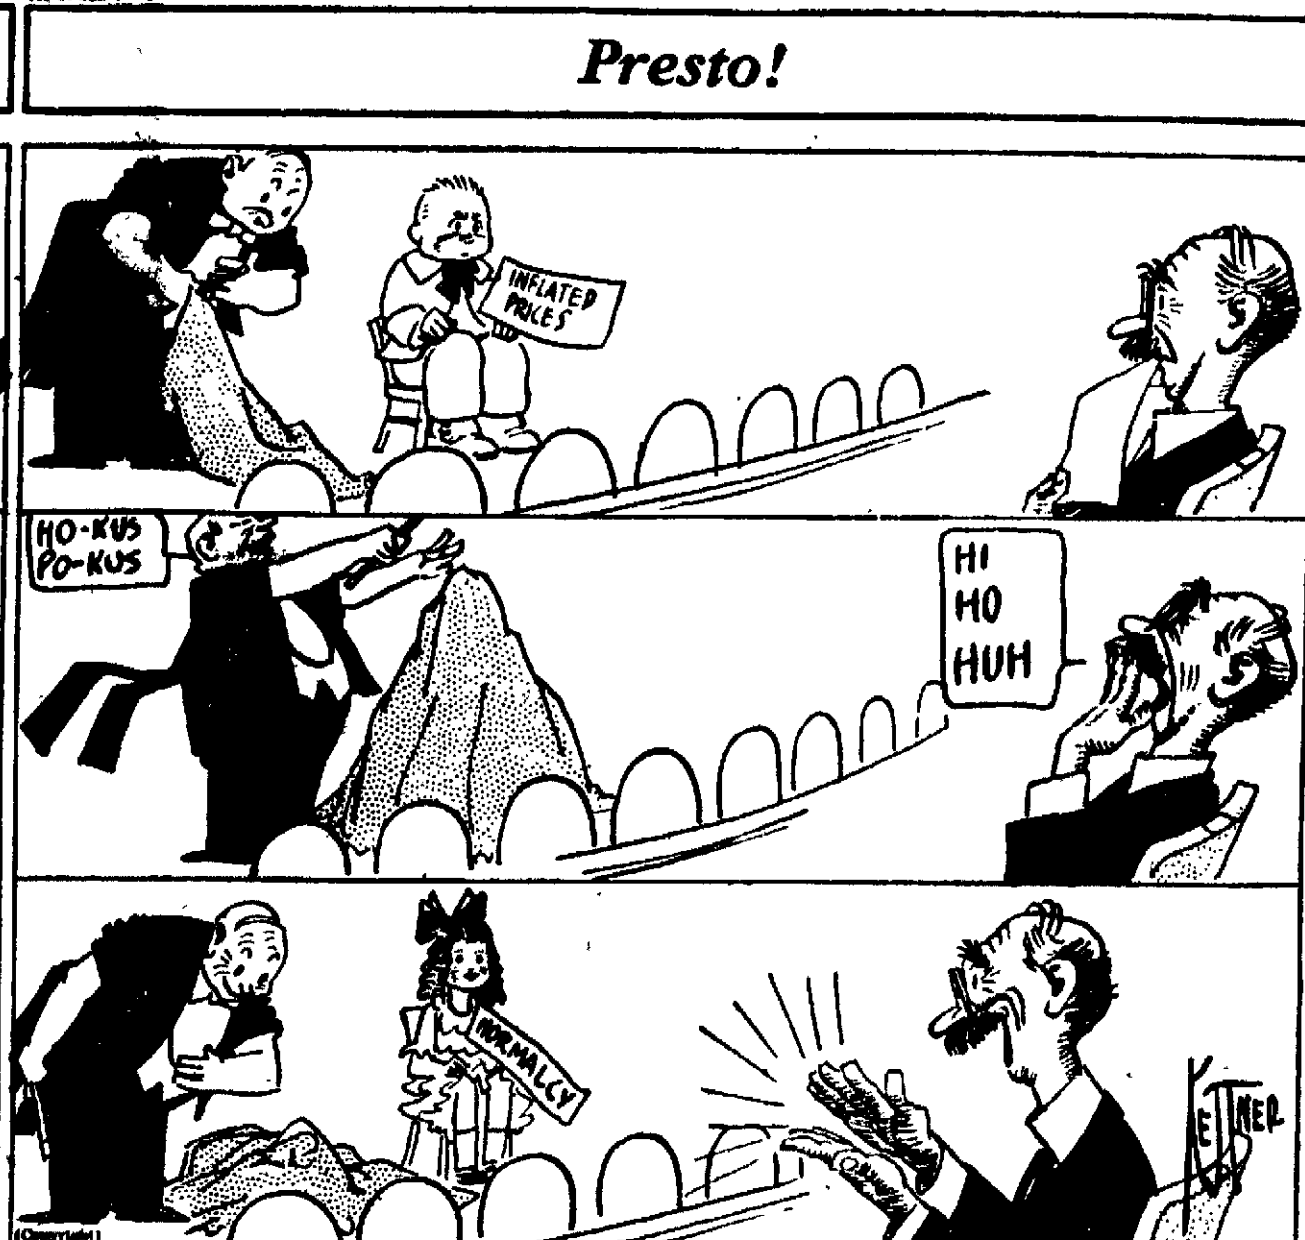

"But we sure treated the little dame all right," Jack Carr, his cousin stated. "We even bought her candy, a powder puff, and the daily papers." Mrs. Witherell, safely with her husband and with her small child in her arms, told of being choked twice by Floyd when she was spirited away.

"A gray haired man came to my home last Tuesday," she said, "and told me a story about a woman being injured in an automobile accident. He said the woman was calling for me. Thinking it was my husband's mother, who was coming to have dinner with me, I went with him as quickly as possible."

"I got into the waiting automobile, Floyd Carr was in the rear and another man was at the wheel. The machine started off at a breakneck speed. When I became suspicious I was choked, tied and chloroformed."

ASKS LEGISLATURE TO ADJOURN YEAR

ASSEMBLYMAN FROM FLORENCE PROPOSES NOVEL RECESS PLAN AFTER BILLS ARE ALL IN

Madison, Wis., Feb. 1.—Assemblyman J. L. Grandine, Florence, wants the legislature to sleep over the important bills before passing them. This is the object of a joint resolution to be considered by the judiciary committee providing the adjournment of the general assembly from April 30, 1921, to January 11, 1922.

"Have all the bills introduced before April 30, and then adjourn until January 22, and there won't be so many bad bills enacted into laws. The trouble is too much congestion at the close of the session, members are tired and bills slip through," said Grandine. Grandine said the passage of his resolution would save the state many thousands of dollars. "We are having falling markets, none can predict the bottom, the committee could get better views next January and bear down accordingly," said the assemblyman.

Old members of both houses opposed the recess plan proposed by Grandine. "Objections are made by those wanting to put through selfish measures at the last minute," said Grandine.

POLAND IS HARD HIT

PLIGHT OF PEOPLE TOLD BY WARSAW PRIEST ON VISIT TO MANITOWOC

"Unless enough food is sent to Poland to sustain its people until fall, that nation cannot survive," said the Rev. Edward Yarmone, of Warsaw, who arrived in Manitowoc to visit the Rev. Kubieszewski, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church there.

"Poland is suffering from failure of crops and seizure by the bolsheviks. The people are in a terrible plight."

"My people are making a brave fight for life and their nation, but it is under great handicap, and is much discouraged. We need aid and need it badly, even to a greater extent than has been published."

The Rev. Yarmone is in America to raise funds for the stricken people of Europe.

WHY OFFEND AMERICA TO PROTECT TRAITOR

ASKED IN GERMANY
Berlin, Feb. 1.—An explanation of Grover Cleveland Bergdahl's entry into Germany and his escaping since will be demanded in an interpolation prepared by members of the peoples party to be introduced in the reichstag today.

Leaders of the party said the recent attempt at kidnapping Bergdahl carried with it the possibility of still farther alienating American sentiment.

RESTRICT GERMAN IN LOCAL CHURCH

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC CONGREGATION VOTES TO EXTEND THE USE OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE

FINANCES IN GOOD SHAPE

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS MORE THAN $11,000 RAISED DURING 1920

The congregation of St. Joseph's Catholic church, at a meeting held Sunday, voted to restrict the use of the German language in church services to one sermon a month.

Heretofore all of the sermons at the 10 o'clock services each Sunday have been in German, while the sermons at the 8 o'clock services have been in English. Under the new arrangement the only sermon in German will be at the 10 o'clock service on the first Sunday in each month. The change will become effective next Sunday.

English Most Used

The congregation of St. Joseph's church, although largely of Teutonic extraction, is thoroughly American in sentiment and very few of its members use any language but English in their homes. It is probable that eventually all sermons will be in English. A new section of the general canon laws of the Catholic church for the United States forbids the organization of new Catholic congregations except when they adopt the English language for exclusive use in services outside of the Latin rite. This new ruling does not affect foreign language congregations already in existence.

Financial Report Made

The annual report of the finances of St. Joseph's church, showed that $5,507.88 had been raised during 1920 for general church work, $5,783.43 for the building fund and $321.75 for the parish cemetery, a total of $11,613.06. The congregation owes but $9,553.24 on the new church building, counting out $3,146.76 now in the building fund but which has not been paid out. The diocesan collections for the year amounted to $472.06. St. Ann's society turned over $550.44 to the church and the Young Ladies' sodality, $173.10.

Poland in no Danger of Bolsheviks Attack

Casimir Lubomirski, Polish minister to the United States, says: "There have been constant rumors—none of them from Warsaw—that the Soviets intend to attack Poland again this year. As a matter of fact Russia and Poland are at peace today. Poland expects this peace to continue, and the Polish government believes that Soviet Russia will live up to the preliminary peace signed at the Riga conference and the final draft of the treaty which will probably be signed before the middle of February. In my opinion these rumors of war are baseless.

"Poland needs peace. Without peace her reconstruction is impossible.
Poland intends to keep the peace, and will suffer no attacks to be launched against Russia from her territory, nor any other violations of her neutrality to take place. In that regard my government is in perfect accord with the principles of the last note of the United States government.

"Nor do we expect the Soviets to attack either this winter or this spring.
Why should they? They know that they cannot expect military victory over the Polish armies, because the Polish population stands to a man, not only against ever again falling under the control of a foreign power, but also against falling under the control of a foreign philosophy, such as bolshevism is. The Soviet leaders are not stupid men. They understand this.
But there are other reasons why they would not attack, and those reasons are dictated by self-interest.

"In the first place, the Soviets hope to conclude and maintain a trade agreement with Great Britain. The surest way to destroy such an agreement would be an aggressive war against Poland. British public opinion would rise against such perfidy, and the interests of France would demand that an ally that had shown good faith must be protected.

"Moreover, Russia looks to Poland to be her commercial gateway to the west, the channel through which the needed supplies will pour when the final peace is concluded. It is a shorter distance from the Polish frontier to Moscow than from Petrograd to Moscow. Danzig is an ice-free port capable of great development. The passage of goods through Poland is assured by a stable government. It is in Poland that the western merchant will meet the Russian merchant, and Warsaw will resume its historic role as the trading center for Russian commerce. Again peace with Poland is a matter of self-interest for the Soviets."

Curbing Rent Profiteering

How far can a state or federal government go in the direction of placing restrictions on the manner in which a person may handle his own property?
This is a question that may be answered if the legislature of Pennsylvania adopts a measure introduced in the house. The bill would limit to 10 percent any increase in rent which may be made by the owner of any dwelling property, unless application is made to county court, showing the necessity of a higher increase and setting forth the investment and returns from the property.

If the law can fix the rent which an owner may ask for the use of his property, why may it not fix the price which a merchant may ask for his goods, or the value which a farmer shall place upon a horse which he desires to sell? Are the property rights in any instance different from the others?

It is evident that rent profiteering is working injury to the public interests by crowding families together, but it is doubtful if a law can intrude at last in time of peace, on the rights of an individual to administer his own property according to his judgment, even though his demands be excessive.
Another member of the Pennsylvania legislature plans a measure that would impose a fine of not less than $500 on the landlord who would discriminate against families with children. It will be interesting to see how far such paternalistic legislation gets with the courts.

While Portage county farmers didn't do so well on their pot to-be this year, the moonshine crop remains profitable.

The Controversy over Sunday

The Philadelphia North American on December 20th carried an editorial on the question of the Sabbath that's of interest. In part the North American said:

"There are two groups of citizens who, although arrayed in bitter contention, are pursuing methods which on both sides tend to determine interest in and respect for the institutions of religion and the higher spiritual values of life.

"One of these groups is a powerfully organized class intent upon com-mercializing the American Sunday, not only stripping from it nearly every characteristic which distinguishes it from other days of the week, but debasing it to the uses of sordid commercialism. The other is a small band of Sabbatharians, who from unselfish motives, but with deplorable judgment, agitate for laws to compel the nation to conform to their narrow views, and thereby create hostility and prejudice toward the very institution they aim to serve.

"Now we yield to none in our belief in proper observance of the day set apart from the rest of the week by the doctrines of the Christian church, by the customs of society and by the laws of the land. We are unqualifiably for preservation of the Sunday, that America knows, and unqualifiedly against its commercialization.
Likewise against the introduction of the day as it is celebrated in Europe, the so-called continental Sunday. We have slight sympathy with the complaint of foreign elements that American customs in this respect are different from those of their native lands; a decent conformity with the ideals of the country that welcomed them is a small price to pay for the advantages they gained by coming here. Yet despite these things we are aware that it would be futile and harmful to impose drastic restrictions which overwhelming public sentiment and changed social and economic conditions long ago made obsolete.

"Those who agitate for the rigid enforcement of the enactment of laws which by consent of the vast majority of Americans belong to a totally different age are weakening the institution of the American Sunday, are unconsciously aiding and abetting those who strive to make it a day of unrestricted profit-making. There are certain fundamentals upon which all who believe in preserving the beneficent characteristics of the day can agree—it should not be degraded to the purposes of commercialism, whether in business, sports or amusements. But the matters of individual conduct and the recreations and pastimes of the people no rigid formula of observance would be rational or tolerable, first, because such restrictions are alien to the spirit of democracy, and, second, because among the most sincere up-holders of the Sabbath idea there are wide differences of opinion as to what is permissible."

Business Revival Near

Call it "psychological" if you will,
but signs are multiplying that American business and industry are only awaiting the inauguration of Harding and the advent of the Republican administration to enter on an era of renewed activity.

Reports by government experts confirm this, although not in so many words, perhaps. Even those who are skeptical of the judgment of official "experts" must credit the facts as they are disclosed. The unequalled resources of the government for searching out the facts of trade and industry afford a sure basis for judgment that shall influence action.

General confidence is all that is needed to expedite the return to a larger degree of commercial normalcy on which the country will thrive.
That confidence, now lacking, will be restored to business and industry as a regime in power at Washington upon which the nation can rely for the same conduct of its affairs.
A more strengthened faith, the people have to better position, replenishment of supplies and the repairing of equipment. A dollar wisely expended will start a trade of commercial and industrial operations that will result in a more widespread business revival.

There is no commensurable of all the progress of the west economy. It is poor that ultimate prosperity is impossible, it provided the essential, increasing the ties of commerce and industry that sometimes are put to rest to go down. Those who now have a few dollars with which to start their ventures will give to general trade not that degree of stimulant that is needed. They will increase the demand for goods which results in the reopening of factories and the resuming of transportation lines to serve, that reaches back to the products of raw materials and complex activity in every commercial and industrial enterprise.

If property is to be confiscated whenever used for the making of liquor,
it may or used in its transportation, we shall soon have chance to pick up a lot of farms and outposts cheap.

The Revival of German Trade

"Germany is still a perfect industrial machine, running at low speed.
It is true, but undamaged as yet in its vital parts, and would respond readily to any stimulus."

The above remark by a British government official who has recently been studying the industrial and commercial conditions in Germany, sums up in a nutshell the present position of the Germans. Undoubtedly, the Germans are making a determined effort to mend the rents that have been torn by American and British manufacturers in the foreign trade net of the former German empire. That they have made a good beginning is evident from the fact that German exports for the first five months of 1920 amounted to 23,088,000,000 marks, as compared with 10,057,000,000 marks for the entire year of 1919.

Thousands of German sailmen are reported to be at work not only in the former neutral countries, but in all the European and Asiatic countries with which they were at war, offering low prices and long credits and promising prompt deliveries than their competitors. Buyers from many of the larger nations are now in Germany placing substantial orders of motor trucks, dyestuffs, toys, iron and steel products.

The late holiday season showed Germany recovering the toy trade, once fully held but lost during the war.
The wonderful German dyes, which other nations tried to imitate in recent years, have resumed their superiority and are being sold at prices far below what they can be produced for in this and other countries. In the far east, in South America, in the island districts, German trade is resuming. The world is again being served by German steamship lines.

There is danger to American markets in the sudden dumping upon them of great quantities of German goods produced just before and during the war and which are now turned into the market at whatever price they will bring. Aside from that there is nothing disquieting in the revival of German trade. It was in business that Germany was winning her greatest triumphs, surer in results than the more spectacular triumphs of war.

It is the opinion of many that, had Germany avoided the war into which her militarists led her, she would soon have been in control of the trade of the world. The Germans are natural business men, thorough in methods, courtiers in service, attentive to business. Given a fair chance, they will rehabilitate their country, pay off the indemnity and make their people more prosperous than ever before. Their attempts to get back on their feet should be received with sympathy, accompanied indeed by whatever protective measures are needed for American interests.

Many economists and business interests contend that it would be a serious blunder to deprive Germany of any advantage that she may be able to acquire legitimately in the markets of the world. They hold that it is obvious that rehabilitation of Germany's foreign trade is vitally important to a country poor in natural resources and faced with the necessity of paying an enormous war debt and indemnity.
In order to develop her industries, Germany must have copper and cotton from the United States, rubber from Brazil, hides and skins from Asia and South America, nitrates from Chile, zinc from various British colonies. In order to pay for these imports of raw materials, Germany must export her manufactured goods.

Some Facts About State Income Tax
Reports

Any person to whom a state income report blank is sent should fill out the blank and send it to the assessor of incomes whether he has a taxable income or not.

Any person who may have a taxable income but who has received no blank should procure a blank and make a report.

The law provides severe penalties for neglecting or refusing to report either of the foregoing cases.

A single person is entitled to an exemption of $800 and a married man has an exemption of $1,200, and an additional $200 for each child under 18 years of age.

Persons desiring report blanks can procure them by writing to the assessor of incomes of their districts.

No money should be sent with the reports as the state income taxes are not payable to the assessors of incomes, but are payable to the local treasurers. The taxes on 1920 incomes will not become due until December 1921.

The Yellowstone Trail

While we don't agree with H. O.
Conley that it is such a privilege for Stevens Point to be associated on the same road with Minneapolis and Milwaukee, that our assessment should be three times as much per capita as those of the two larger cities, still Mr. Conley made it plain that the value of the trail to this city is far more than the $225 asked annually. The trail is better known outside the state than the trunk line highways. While every outsider who comes into Wisconsin speaks in praise of Wisconsin's marked roads, he acquires that frame of mind after coming and before his arrival he depends on the Yellowstone trail to bring him in. A highway marked all the way from the Pacific coast past Chicago is worth being on. It should take only a few hours to raise Stevens Point's share of the assessment.

Of course the same fellows who give to everything will give to this and the same fellows who don't give to other funds won't give to this.
That's the way the world goes. It has two kinds of people—those who carry the load and those who let the other fellows carry their share in addition to their own.

The Railroads and the Men

The railroads told us that the advance in the pay of their men was so tremendous that they would have to have higher freight and passenger rates. They got it.

Now the railroads say that, the expense of living having been substantially reduced, the men's wages should go down. We haven't noticed any serious cut in living expenses, but we'll assume there has been one. That is not the question just now.

What we want to know is this: If the railroads succeed in bringing wages down, will they consent to a reduction in freight rates and a return of passenger rates in Wisconsin to two cents a mile? If higher wages justify higher rates, do lower wages justify lower rates?

What's the answer?

Let Russia Alone

We have found it hard to agree with President Wilson in anything of late, yet as to the wisdom of letting Russia alone we are in hearty accord.
Russia has a right to as bad a government as she can stand. It is good Americanism to admit the right of other people to govern themselves, or mis-govern themselves, as they choose. All that we can ask of Russia is that she let us alone. If Russia attempts an offensive against Poland and other nations, she should be resisted. But while she keeps to herself, we should not interfere with her.

Anyhow Russia cannot be much worse off from a domestic standpoint that she was under royalty. She is uneducated, crude, stumbling, as France was at the time of the great revolution. What happened in France in the Reign of Terror horrified the world, yet we now realize that the French Revolution was one of the great forward movements, one of the most valuable facts in the whole life of mankind. Russia is having a taste of democracy and doesn't know what to do with it. But she is a great and mighty nation and in time she will harp. We must guard only that while she is educating herself she does not injure others.

Get the Manufacturers
It is much more important, we believe, to arrest the manufacturers than the purchasers of moonshine.
A witness at the hearing in county court Monday said that many farmers had lost moonshine, taken out of their wagons and sleighs on the Public square. These farmers, we presume, had not bought the liquor to take home, but had brought it to town to sell.

When a man complains that homemade whisky has been stolen from him, he ought to be arrested immediately, a search warrant issued and his home searched for a still. Thus we might smash the moonshine trade at its source.

Regardless of a man's original views of prohibition, regardless of whether he now likes his drink or not, good citizens must approve the most rigorous steps to break up the trade in the poisonous dopes which are being peddled about. It is a libel on whisky to call them by that name. The jug of moonshine seized in the lumberyard the other day, supposed to contain 18 per cent alcohol, had no alcohol scent at all; it smelled like stale molasses and it needed only a whiff of it to convince almost anyone that it could be guaranteed to wreck a man's stomach.

STILL OPERATORS TAKE BIG CHANCE

IN KENTUCKY FARMS ARE SEIZED BY GOVERNMENT AS SECURITY FOR PENALTIES

LANDIS HITS VIOLATORS

FEDERAL JUDGE, SITTING AT LA CROSSE, SHOWS WHERE HE STANDS

If it is true that many Portage county farmers are making "moonshine," as the evidence of one of the defendants in the moonshine theft case in county court a few days ago indicated, they are taking some serious chances.

A dispatch from Louisville, Ky., tells of drastic steps taken by the government to check the illicit manufacture of liquor in that state. Two farms on which whisky stills were found were seized and it was announced that the owners could redeem their property only upon payment of penalties, which, prohibition enforcement officers said, amounted to $1,600.

Landis Stirred Up

From La Crosse, Wis., comes word that Federal Judge K. M. Landis has been delivering "fatal blow" after blow to defendants charged with violating the Volstead act. Judge Landis, it is said, has indicated that he is not in sympathy with still operators and liquor traffickers, and it is predicted many will be given the maximum sentence.

"Congress has passed a law making it illegal to manufacture, sell or transport liquor; thousands of agents have been employed to enforce the law, varying after warning and arrest after arrest have been made, but still on insist upon ignoring the law, although you have been cautioned many times," said Judge Landis to one defendant who was found guilty by a jury. "Marshal, lock this man up at once—he is dangerous to the community," concluded the court.

Hits Wine of Pepsin

A La Crosse saloon keeper, Louis Volaynski, was found guilty by Judge Landis of violation of the prohibition act. In this case the first conviction was obtained for sale of Wine of Pepsin, a so-called medicine that contains 3 per cent alcohol. Judge Landis ruled in his charge to the jury that under the law Wine of Pepsin cannot be sold for beverage purposes.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED TO CRUSH UNIONS

JEWELL TELLS LABOR BOARD THAT RAILROADS HAVE SET OUT TO RUIN BROTHERHOODS

Chicago, February 1.—Conspiracy to crush the railroad brotherhoods in an effort to drive down wages was charged before the United States railroad board today.

Oil N. Nesveda, OUTDWIRE ET B. M. Jewell, head of the railroad employees of the American Federation of Labor, appeared before the board to oppose the demand of the railroads that a national joint agreement be abrogated. Jewell alleged that the railroads are in financial straits because of mismanagement.

EART BALM CASE NETS WOMAN $800

TRY BEFORE JUDGE PARK AT WISCONSIN RAPIDS RETURNS VERDICT IN FAVOR OF PLAINTIFF

Mrs. Anna Butke of Marshfield is awarded $800 damages in circuit court at Wisconsin Rapids before Judge B. B. Park of this city after a jury had deliberated five and one-half hours. The damages were awarded against Matthew News of Marshfield on a charge of breach of promise made by the woman and in which she had received $2,500.

The jury answered two questions which Judge Park gave it the first time: "Did the defendant in June 17, promise to marry the plaintiff?" affirmative answer was returned. A second question was: "If the first should determine that the plaintiff is entitled to judgment at all sum do you assess her damages?" The answer was "$800."

GREET FATHER HOGAN

MEMBERS OF OSHKOSH ROTARY CLUB WELCOME LOCAL PRIEST TO MEETING

While at Oshkosh on Tuesday, Rev. James C. Hogan, pastor of St. Stephen's Catholic church of this city, made an attempt to "sneak in" to the regular weekly luncheon of the Oshkosh Rotary club, of which he was formerly a member. He had hardly entered the room, however, when he was recognized, and before he realized it he was in the midst of an impromptu reception. "The program was stopped while he was formally received and later he was called upon for an address," said the Oshkosh Northwestern, in its account of Father Hogan's appearance at the meeting. "He told of the activities of the Rotary club at Stevens Point, of which he is also a member."

NEW INCOME TAXES TO HIT SOME HARD

PORTAGE COUNTY, WHICH GETS OFF LIGHT, WILL PAY ABOUT $45,000 ADDITIONAL

Madison, Wis., Feb. 1.—Approximately two-thirds of the additional $6,000,000 it is proposed to raise annually through the increased taxes on incomes of more than $5,000 will have to be raised in seven counties, according to statistics of the state tax commission, it was disclosed here today.

Based on assessments on incomes in 1918—the latest figure available—Milwaukee county will be called on to pay approximately two and a half million dollars.

Kenosha is the next largest county and the increased amount of revenue it is expected to produce will total around $600,000. Milwaukee's taxes total 43 per cent of the total return and Kenosha about ten per cent in 1918.

Five per cent of the total tax was assessed against Racine for 1918 and based on this, it would mean that Racine would have to contribute $300,000 in increased taxes.

Dane, Manitowish, Rock and Winnebago counties will each pay between three and four per cent of the $6,000,000.

Portage county will pay about $45,000 additional.

May Be Modified

Modification of the administration's new tax measure which provides for raising an additional $6,000,000 annually by boosting taxes on earnings of individuals and corporations with an income of more than $5,000, is believed certain in the minds of legislators, business men and tax officials, it was learned here today.

With an increase in tax exemptions to conform with the federal law advocated by Gov. John J. Blaine, tax experts and business men are prepared to suggest that the increased rates be started at a lower figure. A plan which is under consideration proposes that the rate on incomes of $3,000 be increased one-half per cent; $4,500, one per cent; $5,000, one and one-half per cent; $6,000, two per cent, and $7,000, two and one-half per cent.

Instead of forcing an individual or corporation to pay an additional six per cent on incomes of $12,000 or more, it would reduce the rate. A graduated increase of one-half per cent on each thousand is believed to be acceptable up to incomes of $10,000. This would mean that on incomes of $10,000 or more the individual or corporation would be asked to pay an additional tax of four per cent.

Business men state it is necessary to modify the proposed new rates to prevent their business from being stifled.

They argue that the rates provided in the new measure will tend to prevent Wisconsin manufacturers from competing with manufacturers in other states.

They also pointed out that if they were to compete with other states on even terms, it may mean wage reductions.

LOCAL MAN REFEREE AT EXCITING CONTEST

Coach J. E. Swetland of the State Normal school here officiated.

Dr. Bird was surgeon of the 7th Signal Corps Battalion in the United States, and afterwards was surgeon in the 161 Infantry 41 Division, and was close behind the line when the armistice was signed, and declares he enjoyed and profited from the service with A. I Met Him on the Street

He backed me up against Taylor's Drug Store and told me of a wonderful proposition—something that would make me rich.

He wanted me to invest in it right away because it was going to cost more soon and he wanted me to get in on the ground floor.

And he told me with tears in his eyes that I ought to get more for my money than the three per cent interest I am getting from the First National Bank—oh! so much more—and that he was in a position to get it for me.

He spoke of my duty to my family and worked on my feelings 'till I almost cried.

And then he showed me a pretty paper which was all engraved and had golden seals attached to it and was 'most nice enough to be framed and hung in the parlor.

And he explained that it was stock of some kind or other, and that all I had to do to get rich was to own that paper.

And that it would be mine if I would draw my three per cent money from the First National Bank and give it to him.

So I said, "Lets go over there and talk it over with Mr. Dunegan."

But just then he saw across the street another man he wanted to talk to, so he left me, and I haven't seen him since.

I wonder why?

TWO YOUNG MEN UNDER ARREST

CORNELIUS LEARY AND DEWEY J. COAN ALLEGED TO HAVE BROKEN INTO MEAT MARKET

FACE BURGLARY CHARGES

ARREST COMES AS AFTERMATH OF ROBBERY AT PEICKERT ESTABLISHMENT

Cornelius Leary and Dewey J. Coan, local young men, were arrested by Chief of Police John S. Hofsoos Thursday afternoon on warrants issued by District Attorney B. J. Carpenter charging them with burglary. It is alleged that they entered the J. N. Peickert meat market on Sunday, January 23.

Charged With Burglary

The complaint against the two men charges that they did "unlawfully and feloniously, willfully and burglariously break and enter a certain two story brick building at 451 Main street used and occupied by J. N. Peickert as and for a meat market with the intent then and there the goods and chattels of J. N. Peickert therein contained to take, steal and carry away contrary to the provisions of Section 4409 of the Wisconsin statutes."

Aftermath of Robberies

The Peickert market was entered last Sunday night and 27 cents in pennies stolen from the cash register. Entrance to the building was gained by cutting a small hole through a rear door which was locked with a bar. This permitted the removal of the bar and entrance to the establishment. Discovery of the burglary was made shortly after midnight on Sunday by a night officer who found the rear door unlocked. Two other places, the W. B. Pett grocery store and the George Hoppe soft drink establishment, were also burglarized on Sunday.

EDWARD PACKARD DIES IN OKLAHOMA

NATIVE OF PLOVER AND FORMER RESIDENT OF THIS CITY SUCCEUMS TO PNEUMONIA

Mrs. E. J. Carley is in receipt of a telegram announcing the death at Sand Springs, Okla., on Tuesday afternoon of her brother-in-law, Edward Packard, a native of Plover and a resident of that village and of Stevens Point years ago. His death was caused by pneumonia and followed an illness of months.

Mr. Packard visited here last June, coming to Wisconsin to Wisconsin to accompany home his daughter, Miss Mildred Packard, who is a student at Lawrence college at Appleton. Shortly after returning to Sand Springs he contracted malaria fever and this was followed by other ailments, pneumonia finally developing and causing his death.

The deceased was born in Plover and would have been 50 years of age had he lived until March 17. He spent his boyhood and young manhood there and shortly after his marriage to Flora McLeod they came to Stevens Point. Following a several years' residence here they removed to Appleton and six years ago the family went to Sand Springs.

The deceased is survived by his widow, two children, Mildred and Nona; his mother, Mrs. James Beach of Appleton; and two brothers, George of Appleton and Frank of Shawano. It is expected that burial will take place at Sand Springs.

The late Mr. Packard was a stationary engineer at Sand Springs.

SHARON YOUNG MAN TAKEN IN TO COURT ON FORGERY CHARGE

ADmits CASHING CHECKS BUT DENIES KNOWLEDGE THEY WERE FRAUDULENT WHEN HE DID SO—CASE IS ADJOURNED

Louis Ghosch, town of Sharon young man, was arraigned in county court before Judge W. F. Owen Thursday afternoon on a charge of forging a check and passing a forged check, on complaint of Felix Zinda of Ellis. A plea of not guilty was entered for the defendant by the court and the case was adjourned to February 10. Ghosch was unable to furnish bail in the sum of $500 and was returned to the county jail. He was arrested in the town of Sharon on Wednesday, by Deputy Sheriff Manuel Berry and brought to this city.

The defendant admitted in court that he had cashed two checks but denied knowledge that they were fraudulent when he did so, explaining that he had done it to accommodate friends and telling the court that he could neither read nor write. The first one he cashed was for $25, he said, which he afterward made good at a bank at Eland Junction. The second one, which resulted in his arrest, he cashed at the Zinda soft drink establishment at Ellis for a friend, according to his statements. This was for $40, drawn on the First National bank of Wausau and made payable to Charles Rompalla. Learning that the first was fraudulent, he informed Zinda he would make the second good if it also turned out to be "bad," he told the court, but on complaint of Zinda he was arrested.

Nella Reton, city who was twice loser by accepting checks at the Reton Bros. jewelry store on January 11 and 12, was in court during the proceedings and identified Ghosch as the man who had purchased a $20 watch and tendered a check for $65 in payment, receiving the balance in cash. The defendant denied that he had purchased a watch at the Reton store.

Ghosch was arrested on a "John Doe" warrant and following his arraignment the complaint was changed charging the former with the crime. District Attorney B. J. Carpenter appeared for the state during Thursday's proceedings.

CHANGE OF VENUE IN TEXAS LAND CASE

SUIT BROUGHT IN MARATHON COUNTY TO RECOVER A PART OF MONEY LOST IN OLD PROJECT

A case which has been pending in circuit court for Portage county and which has three times been in the supreme court, will probably have its final chapter written in Marathon county. The case was originally entitled D. I. Sicklesteel vs. J. P. Malick et al., there being 31 defendants. It developed out of a proposal to purchase 72,000 acres of land in Texas, stock being sold in the company. The plans fell through, a considerable amount of money being spent and lost.

Both Mr. Sicklesteel and Mr. Malick are deceased, and a new issue has been brought into the case by a suit brought by J. R. Lamb in a cross bill against the other defendants. Mr. Lamb put $3,000 into the scheme, which was taken for expenses, and he now brings suit to compel the other defendants in the original case to pay their proportion of the expenses incurred.

All the papers and records in the case were received at Wausau this week to be filed in the office of the clerk of court a change of venue having been taken from Portage to Marathon county.

Local Supervisors Look Over Building Housing Paupers

M. J. Mersch of this city and F. A. Kasas of Shawano, members of the county board of supervisors, spent Friday at Shawano going there to inspect the residence occupied by the Shawano county paupers on the farm about three miles distant from the county seat.

It is probable that many features of the building will be embodied in plans to be drawn for a dwelling at the Portage county farm near Amherst Junction to replace the structure destroyed by fire last year. Besides its home for paupers, Shawano county also has plans on foot for a new building for the county poor.

TRIAL OF THREE YOUNG MEN ON MOONSHINE CHARGES IS HELD IN COUNTY COURT FRIDAY MORNING

TWO RETURNED TO JAIL

SENTENCE AGAINST EDWARD MAJESKI, ONE OF DEFENDANTS, IS SUSPENDED

Three local young men, Joseph Stanczyk, Steve Paluskiwicz and Edward Majeski, who pleaded not guilty to moonshine charges in county court before Judge W. F. Owen Monday, were found guilty following their trial in the same court Friday morning. Each was fined $100 and costs of $10 in default of which they were ordered committed to the county jail until such fines and costs are paid, not to exceed 30 days.

Two Unable to Pay

The operation of sentence against Majeski was then suspended, however, during good behavior until further order of the court on the grounds that the evidence against this defendant was the weakest. The other two men were unable to pay their fines and the costs and were taken to the county jail.

Implicated Others

The three men tried this morning were implicated last Saturday when five others were brought into court following their arrest at an old building in the former Clifford lumber yard which local police raided last Friday. Three of the five, Frank Dayo, Michael Rogaczewski and Joseph Grulkowski pleaded guilty and were given their choice of paying fines of $100 and costs or spending not more than 30 days in the county jail. In default of payment they are serving their sentences. The two others arrested in the raid, Frank Rogaczewski and Frank Garzanska, were dismissed by the court.

An amateur finishing plant at a cost of $2,000 is included in a program of business expansion planned by W. R. The Cook Studio now occupies the second floor of the Goerke building and will be continued to be located there. Don't Let Your Battery Freeze

When you store your car this winter you will drain your radiator, jack the car off the tires and put it in proper shape for the "long winter's nap."

But don't forget your battery. Unless kept fully charged it may freeze and frozen batteries aren't worth repairing.

The "safety first" thing to do is to have us store it under proper conditions. It only costs a little, but it means that you will get your battery again in the spring in the best possible condition. A little forethought NOW may save a repair bill or the purchase of a new battery in the spring.

YELLOW TRAIL BEST OF ALL

IT, AND NOT MARKED TRUNK LINES, ROUTES TRAFFIC
ACROSS THE STATE
OF WISCONSIN

STEVEN. POINT IS BEHIND

HAS NOT DONE ITS FAIR SHARE IN PAYING EXPENSES,
COOLEY SAYS

"My speech," began H. O. Cooley, head of the Yellowstone Trail association, at the monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Strand Wednesday night, "will be what a woman's dress ought to be, short enough to be interesting and long enough to cover the subject."

Then Mr. Cooley gave his audience a witty, entertaining talk for the last hour. He was here in behalf of the Yellowstone trail and before he had finished he had "sold" it to the Chamber of Commerce. He showed the value of the trail in a way which left none to doubt.

Not Sure of Travel

The Yellowstone trail, from Chicago through Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Washington to the coast is not the unavoidable route across the northern part of the country, said Mr. Cooley. "If you write a letter to the automobile editor of the Chicago Tribune, asking him the best route from Chicago to Minneapolis, he will advise you to follow the Lincoln highway from Chicago to Nevada, Iowa, and the Jefferson highway from there to the Twin Cities. The Chicago Examiner will send you to Dubuque, thence via the Mississippi Valley trail to St. Paul and Minneapolis. The Chicago Automobile club will send you via Nevada. They will tell you the roads are better that way. They are not better but they are four miles shorter. The city of Denver is spending at Chicago $160,000 a year to route traffic through Denver. None who goes that way or on any of the other roads mentioned passes through the state of Wisconsin. In Chicago the only influence to route through automobile traffic across Wisconsin, which means through Stevens Point, is the Yellowstone Trail association. We can spend only as much in four years as Denver spends at Chicago in one year.

"This is what we have accomplished: We routed 40 per cent of the through traffic from Chicago over the Yellowstone trail. Twenty-one thousand automobiles were sent this way, carrying an average of three persons and spending more than an average of $10 a day in this state. Through travelers over the Yellowstone trail spent $728,000 in Wisconsin last year."

State Road Delusion

Mr. Cooley said the people of Wisconsin were under the delusion that because of the marked highway system, the Yellowstone trail was no longer valuable—that Wisconsin would get the travel anyhow. But people outside Wisconsin, he said, don't know anything about the marked Wisconsin roads, and inquiry at the state lines usually shows they are following the Yellowstone trail. There are 54 Wisconsin trunk line highway routes between Chicago and Minneapolis, while there is only one Yellowstone trail, and he asked if the people of Stevens Point wanted to cut up the traffic, now coming this way, into 54 parts and get only two per cent of the through traffic they now have. Because of the greater travel, he said, the state had been compelled to spend an average of more than $2,000 a mile on the Yellowstone trail in Wisconsin last year, twice the average sum expended on other marked roads in this state.

Travel Just Starting

Travel, said the speaker, is only beginning. Only 10 per cent of the automobiles in the United States have ever been more than 200 miles from home. He asked Mark E. Bruce, who has been driving for years, how far he had been in his car. He answered, "Prairie du Chien." Yet a questionnaire shows that 87 per cent of car owners are anxious to make longer trips. It is a question of knowing where to go and how to get there. As time goes on the number of people traveling and their value to the communities visited will greatly increase. Stevens Point, said Mr. Cooley, is in a position to enjoy this fast growing business.

Has Not Contributed

But Stevens Point, he said, has not paid its assessment. In this state only 45 per cent of the assessments had been paid, while this city had paid no part of its $235 assessment. He asked if the progressive people of this community did not think it worth while to be associated with live towns all the way to the Pacific coast and to have influences all along the way, employed to route traffic through Stevens Point. He expressed hope that the assessment would soon be paid.

Not His Trail

When a young man, Mr. Cooley said, he was a candidate for the regislature in Arkansas, and going out campaigning, found a farmer working a rocky, swampy piece of land with one mule hitched to an old plow. He was very sorry for the farmer, and told him so. He told him he was sorry two or three times because he was obliged to make a living under such unfavorable conditions; with such worthless land and equipment. Finally the farmer replied: "Mister, I ain't so poor as you think I be. I don't own this damn farm."

The speaker doesn't own the Yellowstone trail, he said, and doesn't depend on it to make a living.

DEVELOP PEAT LAND BY SANE PROGRAM ADVICE OF EXPERT

WISCONSIN STATION TO CAREY OUT EXPERIMENTS ON 40
ACRE TRACT IN BUENA VISTA MARSH AT CODDINGTON

"Wisconsin's peat lands should not be blindly exploited with wild enthusiasm," declares A. E. Whitson, head of the soils department of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture and vice-president of the American Peat Society.

"Too many times men who have had no experience with the problems of forming peat soils plunge too heavily when they attempt to reclaim and farm large areas of swamp land," says Mr. Whitson. "The history of Wisconsin peat lands shows the wrecks of such over-zealous attempts. We should go in this development of peat areas in a sane and careful way. Peat offers many problems to the farmer and we must solve these problems as we go, instead of blindly expending great sums of money in the reclamation of swamps just because the soil is black or because it has been successful under other conditions in other states. Drainage, fertilizers, the preparation of the seed bed, and the selection of the proper crops are important problems to be considered in each case. All marsh soils need potash and many phosphate also. Some will need lime."

The Wisconsin Experiment station has conducted experiments on peat lands for a number of years according to Mr. Whitson in spite of the many difficulties which this kind of experiment offers. Marinette, Price, and Janesville counties have been the fields for much of this work. At the present time the station owns forty acres of peat land at Coddington in the Buena Vista marsh near Stevens Point where experiments will be carried on.

Mr. Whitson believes that, as a general rule, it is the farmer who has a good farm with only a small acreage in marsh land who can most profitably reclaim peat. This is especially true in the southern part of the state where the swamps are not so lacking in lime as those in the northern part.

"It is usually more advisable, of course, to prepare good upland for cultivation than to try to reclaim marshes. However, one exception is on the cut-over land in northern Wisconsin where it might be better in certain cases to clear swamp land first if the swamp is more easily cleared than is the upland, as is sometimes the case when the trees are rooted near the surface, it would be wise to clear a few acres of swamp first. Then put in ditches for drainage and seed to timothy and alfalfa. A fair crop of hay can usually be secured which will enable the settler to keep some stock over winter while if the upland was cleared first, the work would proceed too slowly to get a big enough crop of hay."

"At present there is no demand in sight for peat as fuel in this country although experiments are being carried on in this line," Mr. Whitson asserts. "The other uses of peat are so small in extent that they will create no great demand for it. We can best make use of our peat lands by reclaiming them for farm land in a sane and level-headed way. We only hurt their future development by overdoing it with too much enthusiasm over their possibilities and without considering the problems they offer."

MICHAEL RYBICKI ANNOUNCES HIMSELF A CANDIDATE FOR PORTAGE COUNTY SUP-ERINTENDENT JOB

TO BEGIN CAMPAIGN SOON

ABANDONS PLANS TO GO OVER-SEAS UPON ADVICE OF OFFICIAL

Michael Rybicki, 215 Union street, has announced his candidacy for the office of county superintendent of Portage county schools and will begin campaign work in the near future. The election will take place on April 5 and the person elected at that time takes office on July 1.

The present incumbent, Miss Grace Gordon of Nelsonville, has just been appointed by State Supt. C. P. Cary to fill out the unexpired term of L. A. Gordon, who became assistant secretary of state at Madison on January 1.

Meets New Governor

Mr. Rybicki's decision to seek the county superintendency followed his abandonment of plans to accept a position in the department of Polish government overseas. He has just returned from a 10 days' trip to Madison, Milwaukee and Chicago and at the latter city consulted with the Polish consul, who advised him not to make the trip at this time. At Madison he called on Assistant Secretary of State L. A. Gordon and also met Governor John J. Blaine.

In Government Work

Prior to last August Mr. Rybicki was engaged for five or six months by the department of commerce in conducting an industrial survey, at first being assigned to central Wisconsin counties and afterwards working in other counties of the state. Since completing this work he served as supervisor of naturalization under County Supt. L. A. Gordon, who appointed him, a position without compensation the principal duties being to give instruction in citizenship. In this capacity his duties were confined largely to Polish communities. During the war Mr. Rybicki served in the 69th Coast Artillery and spent one year overseas. He is a graduate of the Stevens Point High school and State Normal here.

Theodore Szerkowski, who has been in St. Michael's hospital since January 15 suffering with a broken jaw in two places as the result of a fight in his apartment in a building on the Public square, appeared in municipal court before Judge W. F. Owen Thursday afternoon and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was given a fine of $5 and costs of $4.70, which he paid.

John Boyanowski, a step-son of Szerkowski, against whom proceedings were also brought following the family quarrel, is out on bonds of $300. He pleaded not guilty on January 17 to a charge of assault and battery and the case was adjourned to January 31.

According to Boyanowski's statements at the time he was arraigned, the trouble at the Szerkowski home started when he went to the rescue of his mother, whom, he contended, his step-father attempted to assault. Szerkowski appeared in court with a bandaged head on Thursday.

Announcement

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statements:

"The price of the FORDSON Tractor has been reduced from $790.00 to $625.00, effective immediately.

"This price change has been made possible through lower costs of materials and the fact that we are now located in our new Tractor Plant with greatly increased economic manufacturing facilities in immediate connection with our foundry and machine shops and large blast furnaces where iron is poured directly from the ore, giving us maximum efficiency with the power to reduce cost of production, and down comes the price in line with our policy to market our products at the lowest possible figure without in any way affecting our high standard of quality.

"We are particularly pleased in being able to bring about this big reduction in price at this time, because the farmer needs all the help we can give him and this big cut in price will be the means of placing a valuable power unit within the reach of practically every one of them, not to mention industrial and commercial concerns which likewise have benefited through its use and are already realizing, to a much greater extent, its value as a power and hauling unit. But particularly has the FORDSON Tractor proved a most valuable factor in the saving of farm labor, at the same time increasing the per acre crop yield as well as making possible a utilization of previously uncultivated land, to say nothing of removing no end of drudgery.

"There is no question that the use of machine power on the farm is the greatest advancement made in the development of agriculture, not only in money saving and money making results, as well as raising the standards of living on the farm to a much higher level, but because of its proved value in making every type of land more productive, and consequently our desire to place the FORDSON within the reach of all.

"THERE IS NO CHANGE IN THE PRESENT FORD CAR AND TRUCK PRICES, which are already at the lowest possible figure, and now with rock bottom reached on the tractor price, a further reduction in price of either the car, truck or tractor is out of the question; in fact, the big price cuts have been made in anticipation of continuous maximum production and increases may be necessary before long if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible increases."

Ask for the book "The Fordson at Work," which will be supplied free of cost. Let us demonstrate the value of the Fordson on your farm, in your factory, lumber yard, coal yard, or in any general hauling or power work you have to do and let us have your order for a Fordson.

ROSHOLT MAN FOUND GUILTY

TRIAL OF BARNEY CHILLA ON MOONSHINE CHARGE TAKES PLACE BEFORE JUDGE W. F. OWEN

DEFENDANT PAYS $143.03

LOCAL MAN TESTIFIES CHILLA REPORTED LOSS OF LIQUOR TO HIM

Barney Chilla, Rosholt farmer, was found guilty on a charge of violating the Mulberger law, following a trial in county court before Judge W. F. Owen Monday and was given 24 hours to decide whether to pay a fine of $100 and costs of $43.02, spend 90 days in the county jail or take an appeal to circuit court. He appeared that afternoon and paid the fine and costs.

It was alleged that Chilla was the owner of the jug of moonshine which Frank Dayo of this city stole from a farmer's sleigh at Normal avenue and North First street the day Dayo and four others were arrested in a police raid.

Testimony of Witnesses
Frank Blaskey, city, one of the witnesses subpoenaed by the state, testified that Chilla had reported the loss of the moonshine to him. This was denied by the defendant. Other witnesses were Frank Dayo, Joseph Grulowski and Michael Rogaczewski, who pleaded not guilty last week to violation of the Mulberger law, and Joseph Stanczyk, who was implicated by members of the party arrested in the police raid, and who was found guilty on the same charge following a trial.

Sleigh Described
These four, and Steve Paluskewicz, who was also found guilty, are serving 30 days sentences in jail in default of paying fines of $100 and costs. The testimony of the four youths Monday included the description of the sleigh from which Dayo admitted he stole the jug of liquor. Nick Olszewski and Roy Dayo, a brother of Frank Dayo, other witnesses, testified that while standing near the youths on the Public square they overheard one of them remark "There goes Barney Chilla."

Liquor Had "Kick"
An analysis of the moonshine stolen by Dayo and seized by the police when the raid was staged, showed 50 percent of alcohol by volume.

ARREST TWO MORE ON FORGERY CHARGE

HENRY AND DAVID OSTROWSKI ARRAIGNED IN COURT ON SATURDAY—BOTH PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Henry and David Ostrowski, young men residing in the town of Sharon, were arraigned in county court before Judge W. F. Owen on Saturday afternoon on charges of forging a check and passing a forged check, on complaint of Nellis Reton of this city. Both entered pleas of not guilty and their cases were adjourned to February 20. They provided bonds for their appearance in the sum of $500 each.

The arrest of the two men by Deputy Sheriff Manuel Berry followed testimony given in county court last Thursday afternoon by Louis Chiozes, who faces a similar charge following his arrest on complaint of Felix Zinda. Ellis soft drink saloon man. Chiozes admitted having cashed two checks but denied knowledge that they were fraudulent or that he cashed one at the Reton store here. He implicated Henry and David Ostrowski, for whom "John Doe" warrants were then issued. When Chiozes was arraigned a plea of not guilty was entered for him by the court and his case adjourned to February 10. The three defendants will therefore appear on the same day.

The Reton store in this city accepted two checks, one on January 11 and one on the 13th, both turning out to be fraudulent. The Ostrowskis are alleged to have had a hand in the cashing of one of these which totalled $85. Chiozes told the court last week that he cashed one check at the Zinda place at Ellis and one at Eland Junction.

Henry and David Ostrowski returned to their home last Saturday and on Sunday afternoon the former was brought to this city by a local physician and taken to St. Michael's hospital, where he submitted to an operation for a ruptured appendix Sunday evening.

ONLY THREE SURE OF CABINET POSTS

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES WILL BE SECRETARY OF STATE UNDER PRESIDENT W. G. HARDING

Miami, Florida, Jan. 31.—Two dark horses will show in the cabinet of Harding, according to authentic sources close to the president-elect today. They will be men whose names have not hitherto figured prominently in cabinet speculations. Only Harding's most intimate friends will know anything about the two cabinet surprises in advance of the formal announcement expected about March 4. Even the portfolios that will be assigned these two men is a mystery, but they are likely to be commerce and labor, according to the best judgment of persons close to Harding.

This developed further increase of uncertainty surrounding the Harding cabinet.

The president-elect went off on a two days' fishing trip today with only three out of 10 cabinet places definitely filled. These are:

Charles E. Hughes, secretary of state.
Senator Fall, New Mexico, secretary of the interior.
Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

BOYANOWSKI PAYS FINE AND COSTS

PARTICIPANT IN FAMILY ROW PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ASSAULT AND BATTERY

John Boyanowski pleaded guilty in municipal court before Judge W. F. Owen Monday to a charge of assault and battery and paid a fine of $10 and costs of $14.45. He was arraigned on Monday, January 17 as the result of a family fight at the home of his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Szerkowski, on January 15, and pleaded not guilty at that time.

Szerkowski appeared before Judge Owen last Thursday afternoon after spending two weeks in St. Michael's hospital with a jaw broken in two places as a result of the family battle, and pleaded guilty to a drunk and disorderly charge, paying a fine of $5 and costs.

Boyanowski returned home from Chicago on the morning of January 15, the row occurring on the evening of that day. Police were called and Szerkowski was taken into custody while a warrant was served on his step-son.

I Tell You it's Worth its Weight in Gold
I MEAN IT! This little Pine Tree Pulsator is the simplest, most trustworthy, most perfect device ever invented to fulfill one of the most important parts of mechanical milking. It is guaranteed for 3 years against any trouble from any cause. I never saw any other mechanical device that deserved such a guarantee.
You see it is not fixed to the pail lid! No—it is removable—loosening one thumb-screw takes it off. That's so you can wash the Pine Tree pail lid thoroughly without worrying about the Pulsator.
When you hear Pine Tree owners tell how they never missed a milking for years, remember this little Pulsator. It is one of the big reasons why Pine Tree gives such wonderfully steady service. And note this—the Pulsator is only one of the many Pine Tree features you ought to know about

Don't Buy Any Milker Till You See the Pine Tree

I've got a lot to tell you and show you. I want you to see some cows that have been milked by the Pine Tree for a long time. Talk to their owners and hear how fast and older troubles have disappeared since they changed from hand milking to the Pine Tree.
I tell you it was a great test when the Pine Tree milked the new Wisconsin Jr., 4-year-old Champion, 4 times a day for 365 days and broke all previous records by a big margin. This cow, Prospect Johanna Posch, made 23,445 pounds of milk and 554 pounds of butter. Her owner said, "I never could have done it by hand-milking." See me or phone—don't wait.

THIS IS THE TIME FOR THRIFT We're Going to Help the Dollar Stage a Comeback

Effective at once we're going to sell to the consumer at wholesale. This means just what it says—that the consumer, regardless of how much or how little he buys, will be asked to pay no more for our products than anyone else.

We want to help the farmer by enabling him to buy his flour and feed at lower prices. He sells his grain at wholesale—why shouldn't we sell to him on the same basis?

We want to make Stevens Point a more attractive buying center for the farmer.

We want to make it possible for city people to effect a material saving in their purchases of cereal products.

We want to create a bigger demand for our products—to make possible a bigger industry, an industry that will mean more to the people of Stevens Point and vicinity.

Under our mill-to-consumer plan you can save $1 on a barrel of Gold Crown Flour and $3 on a ton of Feed, with proportionate savings on purchases of smaller quantities.

City people who desire delivery service, phone 36 and we will do the rest.
